Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

> A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –
> (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 10 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Remo 5,132,105.

Remo '105 discloses a diamond-fullerene (see claim 3, column 9, lines 53-55), wherein the fullerene is C_{60} (see Figure 3). Further, see column 2, line 57 – column 3, line 7, for an explanation as to how diamond bonds form on the surface of the C_{60} fullerene.

Claims 10 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by the Taylor reference.

The Taylor reference shows polymerization of C_{60} fullerenes (see Box 1, page 687), wherein the C_{60} molecules are bonded to themselves. The polymerization types are described on page 691 under polymerization, lines 5-7. The third type of polymerization is a necklace type with direct links between the C_{60} cages. See also Figures 14a and 14 b on page 692.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102/103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

> (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 10,11,12 and 13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Schwob 6,358,375.

Schwob '375 discloses a carbon black with a high content of C_{60} fullerenes (see column 3, lines 32-38). It appears that the energy required to break the C_{60} bond so as to allow the carbon black to bond to theC_{60} is provided by a plasma. It is held that when the prior art discloses a product which reasonably appears to be either identical with or only slightly different than a product claimed in a product-by-process claim, a rejection based alternatively on either section 102 or section 103 of the statute is eminently fair and acceptable. The burden to show a different product is thereby shifted to the applicant, as the Patent Office is not equipped to manufacture products by the myriad of processes put before it and then obtain prior art products and make physical comparisons therewith. See In re Brown, 173 USPQ 685, 688 and In re Fessman, 180 USPQ 324.

Claims 10, 11, 12 and 13 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Yamamoto JP 11-140342.

Yamamoto discloses carbon black particles bonded to a fullerene, which can be C_{60} (see paragraph 0011). It is held that when the prior art discloses a product which reasonably appears to be either identical with or only slightly different than a product claimed in a product-by-process claim, a rejection based alternatively on either section 102 or section 103 of the statute is eminently fair and acceptable. The burden to show a different product is thereby shifted to the applicant, as the Patent Office is not equipped to manufacture products by the myriad of processes put before it and then obtain prior art products and make physical comparisons therewith. See In re Brown, 173 USPQ 685, 688 and In re Fessman, 180 USPQ 324.
